browse through some videos, and BLOGS, that will familiarize you with FOREX terminologies. PTI's free FOREX e-books (Two of them), would be the right starting points for you to start your journey into trading the currencies.

In addition to book learning, there are two additional steps that each beginner in FOREX trading must follow. That involves, watching FOREX trading videos, and studying the corresponding BLOGS. Every week, we carry out intense research into Global markets, finance leaders' speeches, and real time events that can have an impact on financial markets. Based on this research, we develop two BLOGS, and publish them on our web site, twice a week. You must review and study these along with watching the videos.

Do I need a Trading Mentor?

All our trading mentors appreciate their experience with their teachers/mentors that have led them to a successful career in FX mentoring. You can learn the mechanics of trading from books, videos, and even BLOGS. However, it is only a trading mentor who can teach you the human side of trading. This involves helping you to develop patience, persistence, and correct knowledge required for successful trading experience. FX markets are extremely volatile. And, there will be days when you might lose a significant amount of your investments in rather a short period of time. Those are the days, when you need a trading mentor – who would guide you through irrational thoughts like: Fear, Uncertainty, and Doubt (FUD) associated with trading. He would help allay your fears, overcome uncertainty, and diminish any doubts that you might have about the markets.

For a beginner to waddle through complexities of FX markets, one certainly needs an experienced trader to help him through irrational exuberance associated with quick success, or immense disappointments associated with losses. We strongly advise you to interview a potential mentor, and possibly spend a couple of hours with him to gauge his mentoring expertise and trading knowledge. PTI lets you interview and train with our mentor in a two One-on-one, one-hour mentoring sessions. These classes are free, and you get to access our Platinum FX Trading Platform, PTI videos, and access to our live trading floor.

PTI Approach to trading:

PTI traders/mentors are professionals with significant institutional trading experience. Thus, they bring certain level of professionalism to their trade mentoring practices. This includes gaining capital market knowledge, understanding Global economics, and having a firm grasp of underlying principles that control currency pair price action at a given moment. We also believe in the power of technical analysis, and logical valuation of the given FOREX currency pair. Our mentors are prudent and patient traders and often devise only the strategies with high probability for success. Thus, they are good risk managers.

If you think that you are ready for once in a life time opportunity to learn online FX trading from successful traders, please visit us and sign up for free mentoring sessions.
